They're all involved in some sort of drama but as you have no clue what that drama is, you'll have to solve the case for yourself. It's not just a bird! This time you are flying over the Alta Fjord. For the first time you get to know the actual Norwegian winter terrain and experience the grandeur of the wintry landscapes of the Trondheim region. The terrain is based on the local Altjafjord area with a terrain mesh adjusted to optimize for a high level of details and performance. The scenery features real HDR lighting with settings adjusted to match this environment as good as possible, and is made with a combination of high-resolution photos and flexible image tiles. Both terrain and photos are set at a resolution of 20cm/pixel and this makes the scenery ideally suitable for both flight simulators and high end aircraft. The local terrain model contains a detailed interior for the large terminal building as well as a runway based on the local ground conditions. The runway can be used for both complex glides as well as mere maneuvers and an animated marshaller is also included.

Distinct experiences of worry and anxiety in anorexia nervosa. In this study, we examined whether the similarity or overlap between worry and anxiety is influenced by the cause (threatening or unavoidable) or the severity (minimal/moderate/extreme) of a threat. In addition, we assessed whether a general feeling of elevated anxiety relates to the presence of multiple internalizing symptoms in anorexia nervosa (AN). A total of 53 participants with AN completed self-report questionnaires to assess the severity of a single or multiple internalizing problems, their experiences of worry and anxiety, and the presence of generalized anxiety symptoms. Experiences of worry and anxiety increased as the severity of AN symptoms increased, and they were associated with a general feeling of anxiety. Perceived level of threat influenced the similarity in experience of worry and anxiety, but not the presence of internalizing symptoms. Anxiety is a more proximal explanation for worry than in other disorders. However, a general feeling of anxiety is not specific to AN or even to anxiety disorders.

Pathfinder Flip-Mat: Asylum is an optional map pack for the Pathfinder Flip-Mat from Fantasy Grounds Game Studio. In addition to the physical map itself, it includes the following content:](#Fig6){ref-type="fig"}) for each subject were evaluated. Measured values were compared for men, women and elderly subjects, and the results are shown in Table 2{ref-type="table"}. B-Pb was significantly higher in women compared to men, whereas B-Pb in the elderly was almost the same as in women. Further, B-Pb was not significantly different between women and elderly subjects. Figure 6Lead concentrations in whole blood. Lead concentrations in whole blood (B-Pb) in men (■), women (●) and elderly subjects (○), expressed as $\mu\text{mol/L}$ and corrected using the results of intraclass correlation coefficients. First, no information about urine Pb levels was obtained. Several articles indicate that urinary Pb levels are higher than plasma Pb levels \[@CR19\]. Second, the number of the participants was relatively small. Third, many samples were obtained from the elderly population, and B-Pb in men and women was not significantly different between the elderly and young subjects. Finally, we could not match the conditions of blood sampling and the interval between blood sampling to the drinking water levels in the survey. On the other hand, the present study also has several strengths. The survey subjects were limited to a single city and were examined under the same conditions, and the data were obtained from a survey with high response rates. The reliability of the information obtained was verified using the results of questionnaires and examination records. The findings of the present study clearly indicate that the WHO drinking water guidelines for Pb are suitable for the Japanese population. We believe that the present study presents clear information regarding the current situation of Pb in the Japanese population, providing useful data to the Japanese government and environmental agencies. Conclusions {#Sec7} ===== In Japan, both national and local
