I run pfSense as my primary/main router and then I run Logmein's Remote desktop as a client to connect to it from my phone. pfSense has a built-in VPN client which uses the IPSec protocol with a Blowfish based encryption on the tunnel.

Logmein's Prograde software has a default SSH tunnel built in. I use that tunnel to connect to my pfSense machine over the internet using a few options. So, I can quickly connect to my pfSense box over the internet using my phone without needing any special type of VPN software for my phone. I do this because I am usually on the road and having a fairly simple VPN solution for my phone really cuts down on the possibilities of being locked out of my pfSense box and my home network from a car when I am driving to work. --- based on a different table's value SELECT statement for this Table looks like this

mysql> SHOW TABLES; +-----+ | Tables_in_team |
+-----+ | a | | b | | c | +-----+ mysql> Select
* from b; +-----+ | id | +-----+ | 1 | | 2 | | 3 | | 4 | |
5 | +-----+ 5 rows in set (0.00 sec)

This is my select query

SELECT t.id, t.name FROM a as t
WHERE t.master_id = @a_id

I need to select records based on the other table's master_id value. If the master_id = '6' then get the records with id = 6, 4, 2, 1 otherwise get all records.

A: If you need to use variable, you can try this :

```
SET @a_id := '6';
SELECT t.id, t.name FROM a as t WHERE
t.master_id = (SELECT master_id FROM b
WHERE id = '@a_id')
